FOOD FOR HOMELESS PEOPLE

Please remember that there is always that box in the church porch marked “Food for Homeless People”. You can support those whose lives are not going so well by leaving their donations of non-perishable food (tins or packets). What you give will be handed on to GlassDoor, a local charity caring for those who have no place to call their home. To find out more about their work and how you can help them see glassdoor.org.uk

CHRISTIANS IN THE HOLY LAND

Cardinal Vincent has asked that we might help our fellow Christians in Bethlehem and elsewhere in the Holy Land, the majority of whom are now in dire straits because of the breakdown of pilgrimages and tourism during the Covid epidemic. To donate see friendsoftheholylan.org.uk

CRIB OFFERINGS

All donations given at our Christmas Crib will be passed on to the Catholic Children’s Society. The CCS runs a number of programmes in this diocese, helping children and deprived families. See Cathchild.org.uk

AFGHANISTAN

CAFOD, the Catholic Overseas Aid Agency, is combining efforts with the DEC (Disasters Emergency Committee) for the Afghanistan Crisis Appeal. CAFOD is supporting sister Caritas agencies to provide food, clean water, and fuel. Please pray for the people of Afghanistan. To donate, see the CAFOD website: cafod.org.uk/AfghanistanAppeal

CALVERT TRUST

The Calvert Trust enables people with disabilities to enjoy outdoor activities. See calvert-trust.org.uk

AT THE JESUIT CENTRE

Luke: A Very Jewish Gospel

(Saturday 22 January): renowned biblical interpreter, Nicholas King SJ, will present Luke’s opening chapters as a “picture gallery”. The lecture will offer much fruit for spiritual reflection.

Science and Theology (begins Tuesday 11 January): Look beyond a simplistic narrative of conflict between science and religion to explore different ways that faith can be enriched by an engagement with the world of science.

Five Medieval Islamic Thinkers

(begins Tuesday 11 January): It is easy to fall into a narrative of conflict regarding Islam. Instead, this course will explore some of the important ways the Islamic intellectual tradition has influenced European thought.

School of Ignatian Prayer (begins Thursday 13 January): the course will introduce one of the great treasures of the Christian spiritual tradition, with ways to pray drawn from St Ignatius’s famous ‘Spiritual Exercises’.

Moral Theology (begins Tuesday 11 January): discover how Catholic moral teaching emerged and also how it should be seen as offering a rich resource for navigating the many challenges of modern living.
